

vitality juice

Ingredients

The juices of carrots, beetroot, celery, potato, sauerkraut, radish, fennel. Immediately after harvesting the vegetables are washed, ground, pressed and pureed.

Characteristics

Pajottenlander Vitality Drink has a deep red fuchsia color and a typical fresh vegetable taste, slightly acidic because of the added sauerkrautjuice.

Properties

Pajottenlander Vitality Drink contains 7 different vegetables, all carefully selected for flavor and quality. Ideal to cleanse the body while feeding it with essential minerals and vitamins. Easily digestible. The composition is based on the recipe of Rudolf Breuss, an Austrian natural doctor, worldwide known for his juice cures in cases of cancer and leukemia. For a refined taste and because of health-promoting properties, Pajottenlander Vitality Drink also contains fennel and sauerkraut.

Several vegetables of Pajottenlander vegetable juices are lactic acid fermented: carrots for the carrot juice lactofermented, red beetroot for the red beetroot juice, carrots, red beetroot, celery and sauerkraut for the Health Drink, all vegetables for the Vitality Drink.

Immediately after harvesting, the freshly squeezed juices are inoculated with lactic acid bacteria. The fermentation of carbohydrates and sugars, which are naturally present in vegetables, ensures that racemate arises (a mixture of right- and left-turning lactic acid).

Pajottenlander vegetable juices contain high levels of right-turning lactic acid. This is very similar to the lactic acid which is naturally available in our body and thus easily absorbed. It contributes to a smooth digestion. Lactic acid is a natural and healthy preservative. Lactic acid bacteria increase our natural resistance and slow down the growth of harmful bacteria. The more beneficial bacteria we have at our disposal, the less room for harmful ones !

Once a day a glass of lactic acid fermented vegetable juice is definitely favorable for staying in good health.
